

SHHHHH....IT'S A SECRET!!

Here's a little secret between you and me... I recently returned from a fabulous trip to Tanzania and experienced the rare and largely undiscovered beauty of the Northern Serengeti in the "secret season". After the HERDS (both wildebeest & people) have moved on from this area which is usually by the end of October - remain spellbound by the beauty and diversity of this landscape (all 300 square miles!) home to the Big Five as well as an abundance of other wildlife such as cheetah, topi, hyena, and a plethora of plains game. You also traverse the Mara River known for its massive crocodiles who are fully satiated after the migration - they've had their fill of food that will last them a year!

What adds to the magic of this season in the Northern Serengeti is that when I visited there were only two camps (now there are three) open year round so you basically have the area to yourselves to dictate the pace of your safari and enjoy the amazing sightings without the crowds.

SO NOW I'M GOING TO LET YOU IN ON ANOTHER SECRET!

The Northern Serengeti in Tanzania is a great alternative to the very busy Masai Mara in Kenya during the migration (August - October) as much of the migration does not cross the Mara (would you with a one ton crocodile waiting for you as you step into the ever treacherous Mara River!). So if your travel dates fall sometime between August and October and you only have time to visit one country it is possible to witness the migration without visiting Kenya. During this time all of the mobile camps that follow the migration set up in the Northern Serengeti so there is a great variety of accommodations to choose from.

MOZ UPDATE FROM CHERRI:

" I just returned from Lugenda River Camp in Northern Mozambique. This amazing, remote piece of Africa remains unchanged, but now you don't have to sleep on a sand bank on the river's edge to experience it. In 2002 I led an expedition with my brother and two friends down the river, completing its first descent. Necky kayak sponsored our trip. A fantastic, hair raising trip of a lifetime!"
